

The piece titled "Journey" is an abstract narrative painting created by me over the course of several years. It is done in acrylic on canvas and displays a series of figures arranged in a composition along with elements that suggest a voyage or great adventure.

One interpretation of the imagery could be that of spiritual perspective.

The diving man, the boat, angel or elephant could represent biblical references

And illustrate the connection between heaven and Earth. My inspiration is not limited to one particular idea. Just as the boat in the background carries a "roll with the punches theme", knowledge changes, inspiration changes.
